SPEAKER:

Professor Lewins joined the Law School at Murdoch University in July 1997 after almost a decade in private practice. She is a graduate of University of Western Australia (B.Juris 1987, LL.B 1988) and practised law in WA for several years before studying a Master of Laws degree at University of Southampton, UK, specialising in Maritime Law. On her return to Western Australia, she resumed practice at the national firm Phillips Fox (now DLA Piper), specialising in transport and insurance advice and litigation. She was appointed a senior associate in 1993 before joining the Law School in July 1997.

In 2009 Professor Lewins was awarded a Ph.D (Murdoch University) for her thesis entitled, “The Trade Practices Act (Cth) 1974 and its Impact on Maritime Law in Australia”.

Professor Lewins is the Director of the International Maritime Law Arbitration Moot. She is also an Academic Fellow of the Centre for Maritime Law, National University of Singapore, where she teaches an LLM unit in Carriage of Passengers by Sea.

She also holds various University Committee administrative positions, and recently completed a term as Associate Dean Learning and Teaching for the School of Law.
